Extremely Oppressive Heat Today

Weather Forecast Office
Brownsville/RGV, TX
Excessive Heat Warning & Heat Advisory in Effect From Noon to 7 PM
Issued Jun 09, 2019 6:39 AM CDT

The combination of hot temperatures and a moist atmosphere will once again create excessive heat conditions for a portion of Deep South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley today. Heat-related illnesses will occur for anyone working or playing outdoors for extended periods of time today. Be sure to drink plenty of water, take frequent breaks in the shade or air conditioned structures, wear loose fitting and light colored clothing, and NEVER leave pets or kids unattended in vehicles outside for any length of time. An Excessive Heat Warning and a Heat Advisory are both in effect from noon until 7 pm this evening.

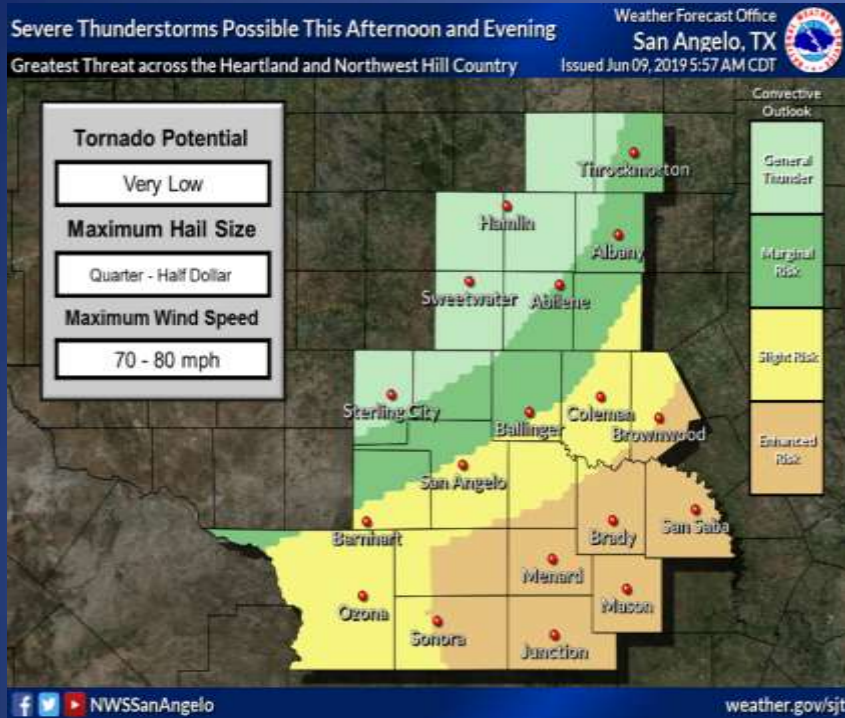

Heat Advisory

Weather Forecast Office
Austin/San Antonio, TX
Heat advisory valid from 12pm to 8pm Sunday
Issued Jun 09, 2019 4:55 AM CDT

High temperatures across the region has prompted a Heat Advisory for area shaded in orange. Practice heat safety if outdoors.

Hazardous Weather

Strong to severe thunderstorms will be possible this afternoon and into the evening hours generally along and east of a line from Albany to Sterling City. The primary hazards will be large hail, damaging winds, and frequent cloud to ground lightning.

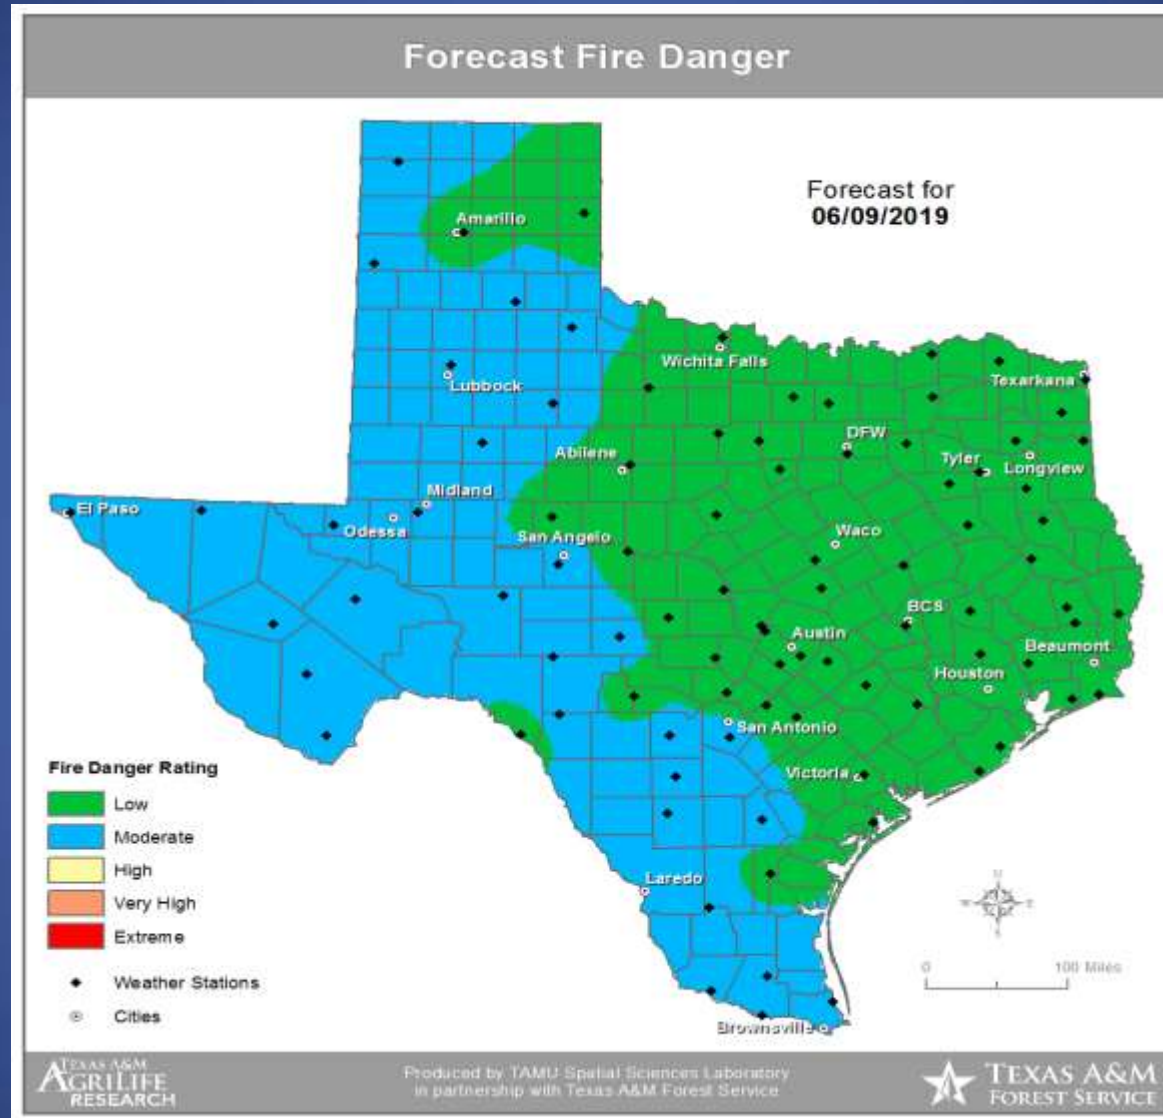

A late season cold front will surge south into North Texas this afternoon, leading to thunderstorm development across the northwest zones. Storms will rapidly increase in coverage and intensity while spreading south-southeast due to the hot and unstable air mass in place, with some storms becoming severe mid to late afternoon, primarily along and west of the Interstate 35 corridor. Damaging winds will be the primary threat, followed closely by large hail and localized flash flooding. An isolated tornado cannot be ruled out. Storms will push south through Central Texas this evening, exiting to the south with the front overnight. Remember to check the latest forecasts and severe weather warnings for your area starting this afternoon.
